1880 TOWNSHIPS
Ashley County, Arkansas

INTRODUCTION

Ashley county was created in 1849 from Union, Chicot and Drew counties. It was named for Chester Ashley, United States Representative. There are extant census records for Ashley county for 1850, 1860, 1870, 1880, 1900 and 1910.

It is bounded on the east by Chicot county, on the south by the Louisiana/Arkansas state line, on the west by Union and Bradley counties, and on the north by Drew county. The western boundary is the Saline River, which flows into the Ouachita River and flows south to the Louisiana line. The other main watercourse is Bayou Bartholomew, which cuts a very crooked path through the eastern part of the county from north to south. Early settlements in the area were mainly on those waterways.

By 1850 Hamburg had been established as the county seat, the site chosen by survey as being the exact center of the county. By 1880 the population around the county seat (Carter township) had grown dramatically. Because only a river separates Ashley county from Union and Bradley counties, there was a great deal of moving back and forth, particularly from Bradley county. This same movement is known to have occurred between Ashley county and what was in 1880 Ouachita Parrish, LA (now Morehouse Parrish).

The 1880 census of Ashley county, Arkansas, was copied from microfilm of the original census. It is in the same order and arrangement as the census.

In spite of all efforts to be accurate, human error does creep into a transcription. Early handwriting is often difficult to read, and spelling of names was not considered as important in the 1880's as it is 100 years later. It is suggested that you be flexible in your search and check phonetic spelling of surnames. In addition, the census taker was sometimes given inaccurate information or erred when writing it down.

The columns copied are:

- (1) Household number
- (2) Head of household/member of household
- (3) Relationship to head of house
- (4) Age on June 30, 1880
- (5) Occupation
- (6) Place of birth
- (7) Place of birth of father
- (8) Place of birth of mother

Modern abbreviations for states were used.

Ashley County Genealogical Society is very pleased to publish the work of Faith Nowlin. Anyone who has ever read census with all its unusual penmanship, faded microfilm and misspelled names will appreciate that it is indeed WORK to transcribe such a mass of information. Thank you, Faith!
